

Transmission, Variation, Transformation of Deuterocanonical Literature

5-6 NOVEMBER 2025
UNIVERSITÉ DE LORRAINE
SALLE DES THÈSES
ESPACE RABELAIS (2ND FLOOR)
ÎLE DU SAULCY, METZ

Wednesday

13:30	●	Welcome coffee
14:00		Conference opening
14:15		Kristin de Troyer P.L. University of Salzburg How Stories Are Transformed: The Wonderful World of the Texts of the Books of Esther
15:00		Ellouise Intervalo University of Edinburgh The Reviser Strikes Back: The Identification, Function, and Value of the Jeremian Reviser in LXX Jeremiah 10 and 28
15:45		Coffee break
16:15		Michael Segal Hebrew University The Textual and Literary Development of Bel and the Dragon
17:00		Erich Gruen UC Berkeley The Greek Bible and the Authority of Scriptures
17:45		Tour of Metz center
19:30	●	Dinner

ORGANIZERS

DAVIDE D'AMICO
SOPHIE ROBERT-HAYEK
FRÉDÉRIQUE REY

UNIVERSITÉ
DE LORRAINE

JOIN ONLINE: SCAN THE QR-CODE

OR CLICK : HERE

Thursday

Session 1

08:30

Welcome coffee

09:00

Daniel Schwartz Hebrew University

Jews and Judeans Rewrite the Maccabees

09:45

Davide D'Amico University of Lorraine

The Syriac Variants of 2 Maccabees: Examples of Transformation and Appropriation

10:15

Coffee break

10:45

Joseph Cross Humboldt University

What Does Tobit's Pluriformity Have to Do with Its Fictional Frame?

11:30

Shlomi Efrati KU Leuven

The Many Languages of Tobit: Translation, Appropriation, and a Medieval Revival of an Ancient Conundrum

12:15

Lunch break

Session 2 13:30

Frédérique Rey Humboldt University

Transformation of Metaphors in the Ben Sira Textual Tradition

14:15

Giada Di Giuseppe U. Modena-Reggio Emilia/IRHT

The Deuterocanonical Books in Synopsis Scripturae Sacrae: Content Analysis and Manuscript Tradition

15:00

Dionisio Candido P.L. University of Salzburg

The Book of Judith in the Latin Textual Tradition: Case Studies from Vetus Latina and Vulgate

15:45

Closing words